

Since 2012, the Virginia Energy Efficiency Council has been convening stakeholders, advising decision- and policy-makers, and supporting innovation to drive the uptake of energy efficiency across all sectors in the Commonwealth. Our membership is comprised of the leading companies, universities, nonprofits, local governments, state agencies and utilities in Virginia's energy efficiency field.

We convene biannual meetings, advisory committees and networking events. We stay connected with each other and today's energy efficiency headlines and opportunities with monthly e-newsletters and social media platforms. We provide fact-based and balanced perspectives to local, state and national policymakers and regulators. We share winning strategies and best practices to keep pushing each other forward, faster.

VAEEC members are on the front lines at a critical moment. Virginia’s decision makers look to VAEEC as they craft energy policies that will shape our economy and environment for generations. Energy efficiency has the potential to drive economic growth, create jobs, shrink utility bills, conserve natural resources and reduce pollution. VAEEC is the only organization dedicated to telling that story, showing those results and representing our industry. For more information, visit our website.

“Trane joined VAEEC to help drive public policy positions in energy efficiency and network with other leaders in this space. VAEEC has exceeded our expectations and we would encourage others to benefit from a VAEEC membership.”

– Larry Cummings, Trane
